Dear Families,

Here are a few things happening in the week ahead and beyond!

Student-Led Conferences: Wednesday April 22nd (Early dismissal at 2:00 pm)
Parents and Guardians are invited to our Student Led Conferences on Wednesday April 22nd. Student-led conferences are a valuable opportunity for students to take ownership of their learning by sharing their progress, achievements, and goals directly with their families. These conferences empower students to reflect on their growth and take pride in their accomplishments, all while building confidence and communication skills.

Paul Davis Presentations: Friday, April 24
Paul Davis is presenting to Intermediate students on Friday afternoon, bringing his wealth of knowledge on social media, online safety, cyberbullying, AI and privacy.
In the evening at 6:00 pm, he will be meeting with parents to empower them in these areas, and many others. Through wisdom garnered from over 30 years in the IT/Cyber world, he has meaningful insights into truths versus myths, as well as the impact of online actions long-term. Paul is looking forward to sharing his message for the first time in Delta to help students and parents navigate the digital world safely and responsibly.
